JOB VACANCY: SOFTWARE DEVELOPER (CASUAL)

Epiction is an IT business located in Perth, Western Australia. We provide web applications and programming services to website professionals.

We are seeking a talented IT student who is nearing completion of their degree, or a recent graduate, to work with us for 10 to 15 hours per week. We offer flexible working hours to fit around your commitments. You should be a team player with good interpersonal skills.

The successful candidate will be assigned personal projects and will be provided with coaching from experienced programmers. Projects will involve:

- Developing custom web applications
- Providing programming services to website developers
- Contributing to the development of extensions to the Epiction Content Management System
- Application testing

Knowledge of most or all of the following is preferred: Linux, C, XML, HTML, XHTML, PHP, SQL and CSS. Some work directly with clients may be involved.

If you are interested in this position, please email your application to Lisa Wiese at lwiese@epiction.com by 15th February 2006.
